

FAMILY & RELATIONSHIPS

The Story of Our Marriage

A fictional sample spread

An invitation dated the wedding. The first rent book told a different beginning: two people learning to share an address. Mae remembered the flat as cramped; Oliver remembered the window and the afternoon light. Their accounts need not compete. The chapter follows the decisions supported by their records and the meanings each partner gives them now. Private disagreements are included only where both agree on wording; an anniversary gift does not require a public explanation of every difficult year.

Evidence note

The letter, photograph, program or other record mentioned here is simulated. Memories are invented to demonstrate attribution and uncertainty. No authentic customer material or identifiable person's image is used.

From your memory to a finished edition

The editorial focus

one couple; up to twelve milestones; both living partners approve their contributions

Questions that shape the story

1. How do your accounts of the beginning differ?
2. Which ordinary routines became part of your shared identity?
3. What move, difficulty or achievement changed the partnership?
4. What should stay private even though it mattered?

Layout and source treatment

The finished PDF uses a title and dedication, readable narrative pages, a selected chronology, optional captioned customer photographs, and separate source and uncertainty notes. This two-page sample shows the design and voice; it is not a complete purchased edition. A no-image layout is always available.
